La Dolce Diva

Luxury Bath, Body and Home.....Inspired by Italy

La Dolce Diva has a number of products that the special woman in your life would love to find under the Christmas tree or in their stockings. The personal care items range from the busy lady traveling throughout the country on business to the those who just want to be a little pampered. The line was created by Jennifer Kirkwood who wanted to bring the sights and smells of Italy for those who don't want to travel across the pond to experience the niceties of the culture.

The first thing that we tested was the luxury bath soap which came in a bar that weighed at 5.5 ounces. The floral scents were inspired by the gardens of Italy and were priced at a $8.50. You will leave the bath refreshed and rejuvenated. For those who like to indulge in a warm bath after a stressful day at the office, Palermo Milk Bath Soak provides a great escape to relieve you from a rough day at the workplace. Palermo Milk Bath Soak will run you $6.00 and comes in a 2 oz envelope. The foaming body wash ($14.50 for a 8.5 oz pump bottle) in their line can be doubled as bubble bath and has a delicious vanilla scent. The only problem that I had with these items was not wanting to escape the luxury of the bathroom after experiencing their calming qualities.

With the winter season upon us, your girlfriend or wife will be pleased to find the Palermo Mini Butter as part of the of your package. Priced at a reasonable $2.95 the product will help your loved one protect against the elements by moisturizing their skin and the floral scent will rekindle images of Sicily. For a full package of their high quality body butter comes in a 6 oz package which costs $18.00. Another item in their line is the Palermo Travel Pack. At $25.00 your gift will include a 2.5 ounce lotion, a 4 oz candle, and a .15 oz lip balm.

You can beat wandering aimlessly searching through mall stores and purchase these luxury products which will be sure to be a hit this holiday season at www.ladolcedivainc.com.
